In Wall Street Store Opened And About $1,200 Stolen Some Time Sunday Night—Entrance Through Rear Door By Cutting Out A Panel.

For the second time within the past few months the store of Wonderly Company on Wall street was burglarized some time Sunday night when the safe in the office was opened and about $1,200 stolen.

According to the police who are investigating the burglary, entrance to the store was obtained by cutting a hole in the panel in the rear door on the first floor of the store and inserting a hand and shooting back the bolt.

Entering the store, the thieves proceeded to the office where the safe was opened by pulling out the combination. The exact amount of money stolen will not be known until the Saturday sales are checked up.

Nothing else appears to have been taken in the store and it is evident that the thieves were looking for money only.

Discuss Village Incorporation

Mass Meeting of Port Ewen Citizens at Pythian Hall Friday Night to Discuss Pros and Cons and Take Action.

A meeting of taxpayers and citizens of the village of Port Ewen, will be held at Pythian Hall Friday evening, October 24, 1924, to take further action in regard to incorporating the village.

Several weeks ago a mass meeting was held in Pythian Hall and a committee consisting of Arthur E. Fronsfield, Robert J. Torrens, H. C. Christian and Chauncey Freer were appointed to obtain data on such procedure. This committee has arranged for the meeting Friday evening at which time Attorney A. W. Lent of Highland will be present to address the gathering and to answer any questions, both pro and con, which the citizens may wish to have discussed.

Port Ewen for many years has enjoyed the use of electricity and many of the more progressive citizens now desire the privilege of using water and gas. The village has a great need of adequate fire protection, which at the present time is lacking.

At this meeting it is hoped that ways and means will be devised which will enable the village to become a greater residential center. Every citizen interested in the future of Port Ewen should be present Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock at Pythian Hall, Port Ewen.

Representatives of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company and the board of water supply have been invited to be present.

Coney Islanders Lively Boosters

Delegation of Chamber of Commerce Touring Eastern States, Boost Their Section at Luncheon Given by Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The Coney Island Chamber of Commerce delegation, entertained at luncheon by the officers of the local Chamber of Commerce at The Stuyvesant on Saturday, were a lively lot of "boosters." They had been touring New England, Canada and New York state in a motor parlor car and nowhere, according to their statements, were they so warmly received as in Kingston. Vice President E. E. Fessenden of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce was introduced by Secretary Cox as the "master and after an address of welcome called on Mayor Block, who spoke briefly.

Dr. Friedmann, president of the Coney Island Chamber of Commerce, spoke of the new Coney Island, on which $22,000,000 had been spent in making two and one half miles of beach attractive and Adelman Cox added details, especially referring to the comfortable warmth in winter.

Mrs. McManis supplemented these remarks with special reference to the business women, who were not mere ornaments, but workers for the upbuilding of the community. The Coney Island yell was given by the ladies, which closed the exercises.

Chicken Thieves Set Barns on Fire

Four Barns on Old Kiersted Farm Near City Line Destroyed Early Sunday Morning—Thieves Dropped Some Chickens in Making Getaway.

Fire which evidently was started by chicken thieves destroyed four of the barns on the farm of James T. Purcell on Wrentham street just outside the northern limits of the city early Sunday morning. Mr. Purcell, who purchased the property about 18 months ago, was awakened by a dog barking and discovered the barns in flames. He immediately notified the Kingston fire department and within five minutes the firemen were on the scene, but owing to the property being out of the city limits there was no water available with which to fight the fire, which had gained considerable headway when discovered. The firemen, however, used their chemical extinguishers to good effect and saved two other barns.

The four barns were on what is known as the old Christopher Kiersted farm, just north of Manor avenue.

The loss is placed at $2,000, with $800 insurance. At the time of the fire there was no stock in the barns, the cows being out to pasture. A quantity of straw and some feed was stored in the barns and was destroyed.

There were a number of fowls in the destroyed buildings, many of which were burned. An investigation as to the cause of the fire revealed a number of chickens which had been taken from the barn and dropped some distance from the scene, evidently when it was discovered that the barns were on fire. The supposition is that someone had made a raid on the chickens in the barn and while there set fire to the buildings. When it was discovered that the buildings were on fire, the thieves dropped some of their haul in making a quick getaway.

One of the buildings destroyed was one of the old frame barns which had stood on the property for nearly 100 years. The old dry timbers were easy food for the flames and the fire burned with great intensity, throwing flames high in the air and lighting up the sky so as to make the fire visible for a great distance. The large barn was rapidly consumed and the fire communicated to the second barn and from there to two smaller structures before it was checked. The local fire department finally was able to check the flames and with chemicals protected and saved the two remaining barns.

Farm machinery stored in the buildings was removed to a safe place and the loss outside the structures themselves was confined to a quantity of straw, some feed and perhaps 50 chickens.

Many Matters Before B. P. W.

The board of public works met in special session Saturday afternoon at the city hall and transacted considerable business. A petition from property owners on St. Mary's street for repairs to the street was received and read. The board decided to notify the property owners to relay gutter before the street is improved.

Progress street property owners petitioned for a sewer in that street, but owing to the lateness of the season the board decided to hold the question open until spring.

Last May the board adopted an ordinance for the construction of a sewer in Moore street. Under the provisions of that ordinance it was estimated it would cost about $1,770, and at the last meeting of the board City Engineer Hallinan said that he believed certain changes could be made that would reduce the cost. He submitted a plan for the construction of the sewer which would cost about $1,092, or a saving of about $700, and his plan was adopted and the sewer will be built under the provisions of the ordinance, which was amended.

Applications to install signs in front of places of business were received from Mrs. Adele Bregman, 115 Broadway; Baker & Morehouse, 678 Broadway; New York Sample Shop, 295 Wall street; the Flower Shop, 762 Broadway; McBride Drug Stores, Inc., 43 North Front street; and Central Garage, Broadway and St. James street. They were all referred to Superintendent Van Keuren with power.

The board then adjourned.

Women Hear Talk On Responsibility

The October meeting of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs was held in the chapel of the First Reformed Church on Saturday afternoon, at which time the Kingston W. C. T. U., the entertaining affiliated organization, presented one of the ablest speakers federation women have been privileged to listen to in a long time. Mrs. Colvin of New York city, vice president of the state W. C. T. U., Mrs. Colvin's subject was "Woman's Responsibility to Citizenship."

Dr. Day, president of the federation, presided at the business meeting which convened at 2:30 o'clock. Following the routine business, the names of three new members were reported: Mrs. Dumont Conklin of Broomington, Mrs. Maud E. Vincent, Mrs. Gertrude D. Dearman, making 66 individual members.

Mrs. Van Hovenburg, chairman of the federation lecture course, reported an exceedingly encouraging sale of tickets for the Stiefuss-Leacock lectures. Later junior tickets will be sold to school children.

The report of the citizenship committee showed a marked increase in Kingston women's interest in exercising their right of franchise this fall.

It will be in order to elect a new chairman for the Third district branch of the State Federation at the coming convention at Lake Placid. Mrs. Rice moved that the Kingston Federation go on record as recommending the nomination of Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen of this city, member of the Federation and of Sorosis. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

The recommendation of the executive committee of the federation in favor of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs again taking charge of the Christmas Seal sale in the city was passed unanimously.

Mrs. Drake, the secretary, again announced the coming State Federation convention to be held at Lake Placid, the week beginning November 10. Delegates and alternates to that convention were elected as follows: Delegates, Dr. Mary Gage Day, Mrs. Mark O'Meara, Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen, Miss Katherine E. Van Keuren; alternates, Miss Sarah Huber, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, Mrs. T. D. Lewis, Mrs. George Burghav. The opportunity for school children of this city to see D. W. Griffith's photo-play America at the Kenney Theatre under the chaperonage of the Parent-Teacher Association on Saturday morning was brought before the Federation and the secretary was instructed to send Mr. Gilder sleeve a letter expressing appreciation of his efforts.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. D. B. Hendricks, who on behalf of the Ulster County W. C. T. U. introduced the speaker for the day, Mrs. Colvin.

Mrs. Colvin, knowing that it was the first time that the W. C. T. U. had been the hostess of The Federation, reminded those present that the Women's Christian Temperance Union was one of the oldest women's organizations in the country, celebrating its fiftieth birthday this year. "and," she added, "It has always been a woman's club, in spite of the title of 'Union.'"

At a meeting of the women's committee on law enforcement, held last year in Washington, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt called attention to the fact that it was also the first women's organization to adopt parliamentary procedure in its meetings. This was quickly followed by other clubs. Always the W. C. T. U. had been glad to co-operate with other women's clubs. In its early days it united women of all faiths, creeds, and political prejudices. When, more than 25 years ago, Mary Garrett Hay, state treasurer of the W. C. T. U. of Indiana, and Mrs. Wallace, the mother of Lew Wallace, were trying to help the women of Indiana to secure local option, they presented to the legislature a petition to that effect, signed by 25,000 women and were told that it "amounted to no more than the scratching of the feet of so many mice." Then these two women determined to make a stand for woman suffrage, in order that in the future their judgments and appeals might have more weight. That has been accomplished and today women have the right to vote, and the W. C. T. U., like all other serious women's organizations, is vitally interested in the problem of helping women to make the right use of their citizenship.

The first item of this new problem, Mrs. Colvin said, was to reach the indifferent voters, men and women. She showed the falling off of the percentage of American citizens voting from 1896, when it was 80 per cent to 1920, when it had fallen to 49 per cent. "Why this loss of interest?" she asked. Her first reason was that today there are not such clear and distinct issues raised, calling for a decision on the part of the voters. In 1896 when Bryan and McKinley were the candidates, the silver and the gold standard were the two principal and sharply defined issues. At first the political parties were co-related, working out finally into our threefold form of government, legislative, executive, judicial. Later the pronounced issues of the two parties became Federal Control and high tariff as Republican issues, states' rights and low or free tariff as Democratic.

Gold Purse for Father Bialdya

Polish Parishioners Honor Pastor's Anniversaries—Entertainment Tonight At Polish School Hall.

An entertainment will be given at the Immaculate Conception parish school hall on Delaware avenue this evening. The Polish orchestra will furnish the music. There will also be refreshments. An invitation is extended to the public to attend. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the fund for the placing of a new maple floor in the school.

On Wednesday evening last, the Rev. I. Ignatius Bialdya, pastor of the church was very agreeably surprised, upon his return from New York city. On being summoned to the church hall he discovered a large gathering of members of the church, church societies and Polish band. Unaware of the purpose of the gathering he was reminded that the occasion was the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood and the anniversary of his second year at the Immaculate Conception Church. The members of the parish had taken this opportunity of honoring and showing their appreciation for the zealous and untiring work of their beloved pastor. The pastor was presented with a purse made up of twenty dollar gold pieces.

After Father Bialdya expressed his appreciation, a reception was held. Old time selections were rendered and dancing enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

In Memoriam.

In memory of Anna Stives, wife of David Hull and mother of Gladys and Irving Hull, who entered into heaven October 19, 1919.

A precious one from us has gone.
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love has given.
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

In loving memory of Grant Cole, his wife, Gladys, and two sisters, Pauline and Catherine Cole Whipple. Soft and bright the stars are shining
On four sad and lonely graves
Like the ones we loved so dearly
Whom we tried but couldn't save.
MOTHER.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 20.—New forward movements in a few of the low priced railroad stocks and a continuation of the modest rally in the oil stocks were the principal features of an otherwise dull and irregular stock market today. St. Louis, San Francisco Common stock went to a new high at 33 1/2 while Wabash preferred A gained about one point at 45 1/2, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia, St. Louis Southwestern, Seaboard Air Line, New Haven, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Missouri Pacific preferred, Katy preferred and other low priced rails participated in an upward movement.

The trend of prices in oil stocks was upward, though trading in this department was confined to a small number of the active issues and price gains were small. Corn Products, Stewart Warner, Schulte Stores, Consolidated Gas and other of the industrial and specialty stocks which have been attracting speculative attention of late, sold in good volume on a rising market.

Industrial leaders like American Can and General Electric were conspicuously inactive. Heavy selling of Bethlehem Steel accompanied rumors that the company did not earn enough to cover the preferred dividends in the third quarter, and the stock declined nearly 2 points to 41 1/2.

Call money was in good supply at 2 per cent. Cotton market declined on speculative and heavy selling.

The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Marie Milbank of Freeport, a school girl chum of the bride. KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 20, 1924.

Coolidge or Bryan is the recognized issue in Middle Western States, and it should be so understood all over the country. Evidence accumulates that there is a working agreement between Democratic and LaFollette leaders to strengthen each other's hands so as to deny Coolidge a majority and throw the election into Congress, where the President would be instantly eliminated from the contest. Mr. Davis is probably only a passive accomplice in the plot, but Brother Charles is an active participant. Should a deadlock in the House of Representatives occur, as is likely, Mr. Bryan would be the logical choice of the Democrat-Radical combination that controls the Senate, and as Vice President he would succeed to the Presidency when March 4 is reached with no President chosen. Let each voter ask himself whether he prefers President Coolidge or the Bryan Brothers in charge of the government, and vote accordingly.

THE JERUSALEM OF TODAY.

According to Dr. David Veillio, Vice-Mayor of Jerusalem, now in New York, the ancient city is rapidly becoming a modern metropolis. His account issued through the Palestine Foundation Fund (Zionist) shows the existence of up to date spirit and method. We read that Jerusalem's streets are being widened, straightened and systematically named, that it is soon to have a power plant and lighting system and that sewers and water-pipes are being laid; that the ancient city already has motor-buses with a 2-cent fare, taxicabs with a flat rate of six shillings per hour, traffic policemen who arrest speed violators, and a great variety of popular sports, including Rugby, horse races, track and field games, and "hikes" for boys and girls scouts. Moreover, there is "first-rate opera" and a theater which presents everything from Shakespeare to popular movies.

All this is concrete and literal, obviously in no way related to the Apocalyptic vision of a "holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven"—long accepted by Christian students as a symbolic description of a regenerated world's happy millennium. But this literal "new Jerusalem" must seem good and be highly acceptable to the more cultured Arabians as well as to the Jews from the countries of the west who have settled under British protection in the city of their ancient forefathers.

DOWN WENT MACDONALD.

The defeat of the so-called labor government in England carries a very timely lesson for us in this country. Premier MacDonald's support was not confined to wage earners. His following included the socialists and radicals of all classes, and was of the same general complexion as the motley crowd that is supporting Senator LaFollette. To try to shift responsibility for the MacDonald government entirely to the shoulders of labor amounts to a slander against the latter. British labor membership is not so intelligent as organized labor in the United States, yet it includes many who refuse to follow the teachings of the radical element.

One of the foremost radical policies in England is a closer relationship with soviet Russia. The fall of MacDonald may be traced in part to his absurd attempts to put that policy into effect. His treaty with Bolshevik delegates sent to London by Moscow spelled his end. The pact was largely a surrender by Great Britain of the common rights of commerce. Russia gained free entry to British markets and the same honorable treatment accorded other nations. The British, on the other hand, were to take their chances in trading with the Russians, to whom property rights mean nothing. The treaty was not ratified and never will be. No British manufacturer or exporter would ever risk his fortune in any such venture, and the benefits that were expected to come to labor because of a big trade with Russia will never materialize.

Coupled with the disastrous effect of the Russian treaty was the apparent willingness of Premier MacDonald to exchange official patronage for personal favors. He accepted a big automobile with a substantial endowment for its upkeep, and then handed out a baronetcy to the donor. That sort of thing disgusted not only the British conservatives but many of MacDonald's supporters who had looked to him as possessing an unusual degree of civic virtue.

The present campaign in the United States of the anti-trust campaign is largely a counterpart of the electioneering that preceded the choice of Mr. MacDonald. Flings at the honesty of the administration, meaningless talk of bringing the government back into the hands of the people, and assaults upon the integrity of the Constitution, are the chief stock in trade of the Coolidge opponents. There is yet to be heard a single constructive suggestion calculated to appeal to thoughtful patriots. Practically every campaign utterance of Democratic and third party leaders is directed at the emotions of the masses.

Fortunately the American plane of intelligence is on a higher level than the British, and the outcome of our own election is not to be feared.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
FUTURE FOOD.

An article in the daily papers the other day told us that a certain professor had been able to manufacture a kidney. That is, it would do the things outside the body, that the kidney did inside. Of course it was not applicable for use in a man's body to replace a worn or diseased kidney, but it was interesting just the same.

Now while some physicians are working in the laboratory with the idea of trying to replace organs or secretions in which the body is deficient, others are working on ideas to lessen the amount of work that the organs of the body have to do. Naturally the first thought is in the preservation of life in the years to come, when the earth will have such a large population that it may be impossible to feed everybody.

Accordingly these scientists are working on plans whereby our bodies will get along with less food, or be able to handle food that at present passes through the body unchanged.

So much of the starch foods of plants, which at present only serve to irritate the walls of the intestine and thus stimulate action, are, in animals other than man, actually digested, and have a real food value as energy producers.

The stomach in these animals seem to have the power to do work on this rough grassy stuff that it is converted into sugar, for use in their bodies.

Naturally our scientists feel that you and I ought to be able to use the same foods as cattle, because in a large sense we are all animals. Accordingly they are attempting to take these rough cheap foods, and by scientific methods, apply to them the same principles of digestion found in the animal.

What is the result?
They have been able to do it, but at such a tremendous cost, that at present they cannot supply this "sugar" even at a price many times larger than the price of sugar today.

You and I, and even our grandchildren are not likely to be worried about our supply of sugar or other starch foods. The world is big enough to supply us for some generations yet.

However, it is interesting to see the lines along which our scientists are working.

WHY

No Machine Can Achieve "Perpetual Motion"

Perpetual motion, in its usual significance, is not simply the action of a machine which will go on moving forever, but rather the action of a machine which, once set in motion, will go on doing useful work without drawing on any external source of energy, or a machine which, in every complete cycle of its operation, will give forth more energy than it has absorbed.

One of the most common machines to be experimented with is in the shape of a wheel with three or more spokes. On each spoke is a sliding weight, and the idea is that the weights will, on the whole, so comport themselves that the moment about the center of those on the descending side exceeds the moment of those on the ascending side. Endless devices, such as curved spokes, levers with elbow-joints, eccentrics and so on, have been proposed for effecting this impossibility. The student of dynamics at once convinces himself that no machinery can effect any such results; because if we give the wheel a complete turn, so that each weight returns to its original position, the whole work done by the weight will, at the most, equal that done on it.

There was a time when wise men believed that a spirit, whose maintenance would cost nothing, could by magic art be summoned from the deep to do his master's work; and it was just as reasonable to suppose that a structure of wood, brass and iron could be found to work under like conditions. But no such spirit has ever existed, save in the imagination of his describer, and no such machine has ever been known to act, save in the fancy of its inventor.—Kansas City Times.

Why Reading May Be

Classed as Hazardous

Reading is the most hazardous occupation in life, writes C. E. Ayers in the New Republic. In the other walks of life things happen to you. You venture a fier in winter wheat and make enough for a trip to Europe. You go out for an evening's entertainment on Broadway and lose it all. There you are. But when you read, things happen in you. Occasionally, that is, at rare intervals and unknown junctions. In an idle and distracted moment you pick up a paper from an empty subway seat. Do you realize, as you leaf it through, that it may alter the course of your career? Such things happen. A certain editorial, a simple piece sounding the ancient faith in the obnoxious American virtues, is included in the memorial collection of the writings of Frank Cobb at the request of a New York business man, who dates his career to the reading of those words. That is how it is. You strike into a book idly, in a spirit of distraction even, and you emerge with lightning scars upon your soul.

Why Ball Trick Puzzles

One does not expect to find a "Mackelne" illusion in the Palace of Engineering at Wembley, but crowds of visitors are constantly gathering round the stand of Davidson & Co., Limited, puzzling over a spectacular phenomenon exhibited by this firm. A large rubber ball, about 30 inches in diameter, which is inflated with air and weighs two pounds, is held in suspension by a single blast of air issuing at the speed of 70 miles an hour from a high-pressure fan. The fan nozzle is set at a certain angle, and the ball is about four feet away from the mouth of the nozzle, and ten feet above the floor level. Why is the ball not blown away?

Here is a fascinating riddle to solve, but Davidson & Co. offer no prizes for the correct solution.

Why Mail Has Increased

Radio has opened up a new and fruitful means of obtaining names for sucker lists. When the announcer of a concert asks his auditors to write in and specify the name of the places they like best, he is thus able to obtain thousands of names of radio fans to whom price lists may be sent for all kinds of radio parts, says The Nation's Business. The list may then be resold to dealers in patent suspenders and buttons and all manner of articles having nothing to do with radio, but nevertheless likely to fetch a certain percentage of sales. Many radio fans are wondering what caused such a big increase in the number of circulars in the morning mail.

Why Engine Is "She"

A railroad engine wears a jacket with yokes, pins, straps, hangers, shields, an apron and lap. They have shoes, pumps and hose! They attract men with puffs and mufflers, and sometimes they foam and refuse to work. Sometimes they are switched. It takes men to make them work, and if they are abused they quickly make scrap. In addition to all this, the upkeep is something fierce, so the railroad men say. This last, if nothing else, entitles them to the feminine pronoun.

Why He Lost Faith

A "lucky" horseshoe, nailed over the door of the home of Capt. George Huntington of Lubec, Maine, has been discarded and thrown far and wide. The captain lost faith in horseshoes when lightning, attracted by the emblem over the door, struck his domicile and in the fire that ensued the family lost most of its household goods and personal effects.

Zone Ordinance Restrictions

Provisions of Proposed Ordinance Regulating Building Operations and Establishing Zones Within City of Kingston.

A copy of the proposed zoning ordinance, which has been drafted by Corporation Counsel James Jenkins and is now on file for thirty days at the city clerk's office at the city hall, has been furnished The Freeman by a member of the common council zoning committee, and is printed for the benefit of those who can not find the time to call at the city hall and view the original ordinance.

The proposed ordinance is drafted from a tentative zoning ordinance that had been prepared by Alderman U. C. Edinger, chairman of the zoning committee, and which is also on file at the city clerk's office for inspection by the public. The Edinger ordinance is very comprehensive and fills twenty-four closely written pages, and is an elaboration of the proposed Jenkins ordinance.

The ordinance prepared by Judge Jenkins reads as follows:

An ordinance regulating and restricting the location of trades and industries and the location of buildings designed for specified uses, and regulating and limiting the height of buildings hereafter erected and establishing the boundaries of districts for the said purpose and providing penalties for the violation of its provisions.

The common council of the city of Kingston do ordain as follows:

Article 1.—Residence Districts.

Section 1. For the purpose of regulating and restricting the location of trades and industries and the location of buildings designed for specified uses, the residence districts of the city of Kingston are hereby designated as shown by red boundary lines on the map which accompanies this ordinance and is hereby declared to be a part thereof.

Section 2. In the residence district of the city of Kingston, as shown on said map, no building or premises shall be used and no building shall be erected which is arranged, intended or designed to be used, except for one or more of the following purposes:

1. Dwellings or tenements, including the office of a business or professional man when situated in the same dwelling or apartment used by such business or professional man as his private dwelling.

2. Lodging or boarding houses.

3. Hotel, for exclusively hotel purposes.

4. Churches.

5. Clubs, excepting clubs the chief activity of which is a service customarily carried on as a business.

6. Farming, truck gardening.

7. Accessory uses customarily incident to the above uses, the term accessory use, however, not including a business or any building or use not located on the same lot with the building or use to which it is accessory.

Section 3. Any existing building in the residence district in the city of Kingston designed, arranged, intended or devoted to a use not specified in the preceding section of this ordinance may be reconstructed or structurally altered and the use thereof changed except that the structural changes shall in no case exceed fifty per cent of the assessed value, nor shall the building be enlarged.

Section 4.—Where on either side of the street in the residence district of the city of Kingston, as defined in this ordinance between two intersecting streets, at least fifty per cent of the number of buildings are set back from the front line of the lots on which such buildings are erected, it shall be unlawful to erect, reconstruct or alter any buildings on said street in such a manner as to cause the front main wall of the same to project beyond the average set-back of the buildings as established, without first securing the written consent of a majority in number of the owners of the buildings on both sides of such street between the nearest intersecting streets.

Upon corner lots the set-back to be maintained will be that of the street upon which the building fronts.

Section 5. Where on both sides of any street in the residence district of the city of Kingston, as defined in this ordinance between two intersecting streets, all of the buildings are private residences, none of them housing more than two families, it shall be unlawful to erect, reconstruct or alter any building on said street for the purpose of housing more than two families without first securing the written consent of a majority in number of the owners of the buildings on both sides of such street between such intersecting streets.

Section 6. The height of all buildings hereafter erected in the residence district of the city of Kingston, as defined in this ordinance, shall conform generally to the height of the existing buildings on the same side of the street between the nearest intersecting streets, and an official of said city in whom hereafter may be vested the power to issue building permits, may refuse to grant a permit for the erection of a building in the residence district of said city as defined in this ordinance which would constitute a violation hereof.

Section 7. A private garage for one or more automobiles shall be permitted in the residential district of the city of Kingston, as established by this ordinance, if erected at least fifty feet from the street line and three feet from property lines, excepting the case of a corner lot where a garage erected on the rear of same shall be not less than five feet from the street line and not less than three feet from property lines. Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed as prohibiting the use of a garage as part of a main dwelling house in such residence district.

Section 8. A board of appeals is hereby established to consist of five members appointed by the mayor for a term of three years. The members of this board of appeals shall receive no compensation for their services. This board shall meet at intervals not less than once a month, and the presence of four members shall be necessary to constitute a quorum. All these meetings shall be public and minutes shall be kept of its proceedings showing the vote of each member upon each question.

The board of appeals may, in a specified case, after public notice and hearing and subject to proper conditions and safeguards, determine and vary the application of the residence district regulations herein established, so that substantial justice will be done in any case where carrying out the strict letter of the provisions of this ordinance would result in practical difficulties or cause unnecessary hardships.

Section 9.—For any and every violation of the provisions of this ordinance, the owner, general agent or contractor of a building or premises where such violation has been committed or shall exist, and the owner, general agent, contractor, lessee or tenant of any part of a building or premises in which part such violation has been committed or exists, and any other person who knowingly commits, takes part or assists in such violation or who maintains any building or premises in which such violation shall exist, shall for each and every violation, and for each and every day that such violation continues, be subject to a fine of not more than fifty dollars ($50.00).

Section 10. Any and all ordinances or parts or ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 11. This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

Hobschur Gets Them.

The Roxbury Times says: Charles Hobschur, the Kingston cattle dealer, has been in town this week combining business with pleasure by purchasing a carload of stock and also purebred rabbits. Charlie is a good marksman and usually gets them when he has his gun.

Careless Letter Writers

It is said that 300,000,000 pieces of mail yearly receive "directory service," which means that postal employees must take time from the regular handling and dispatching of mail in the endeavor to provide correct addresses. This service costs approximately $300 daily in the city of New York alone.

INTELLIGENT SELFISHNESS

When we say "our aim is to serve you" it sounds like bunk, doesn't it?

But we really mean it

We're far-sighted enough to know that you people will reward good service

Our immediate profits will be smaller, to be sure, but in the long run we'll be ahead

That isn't bunk; it's intelligent selfishness

When Niagara Was Dry

The winter of 1847-1848 was extraordinarily severe in this country. Heavy ice formed in Lake Erie. When it was broken up during the latter part of March, the winds swept the ice into the entrance of the Niagara river at Buffalo, where it jammed in a solid mass completely choking the outlet of Lake Erie with the result that on March 29, 1848, the falls of Niagara were practically dry.

Had the Better of Hippo

Two small boys were at the zoo gazing at the hippopotamus with round, startled eyes. "I don't like it," said the younger one, a bit scared. "Let's go away." "You needn't be frightened," said his elder brother. "Since we started zoology at school, we know ever so much more about the ugly brute than he knows about himself."

Keeps Tools From Rusting

Disolve one-half ounce of camphor in one pound of melted lard, remove scum, add enough fine black lead (graphite) to give an iron color. Clean the tools and smear with this mixture. After twenty-four hours rub clean with soft linen cloth. In ordinary circumstances the tools will not rust for months.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes in to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Dr. Swinburne, Specialist

Will be in Kingston on Wednesday, Oct. 22. If you suffer from any disease and your doctor fails to cure, be sure to see this specialist without delay.

In nine-tenths of all ailments there is some weakness of the stomach and poor assimilation of foods that has caused the more serious disturbance. If you have already developed other disease conditions such as headache, recurring vomiting, spells, gall stones, jaundice or the more distressing disorders of malnutrition, neuritis, neurasthenia, rheumatism or heart weakness, you should at once begin a course of treatment to build up digestive and assimilative functions and the results from such treatment is often astonishing.

Poughkeepsie Case Obtains Remarkable Results After Surgery Failed.

Mrs. Gladys Chalko, of 11 Gates street, had suffered from childhood with head, nose and throat trouble. Was treated for many years by leading physicians, but all in vain, and her voice became weak and she could hardly speak. After taking painful treatment from head specialist, was advised to have an operation, and then had tonsils and adenoids removed and nose operated. Still she suffered as before, and was in despair when to do when by chance the announcement of Dr. Swinburne was noticed in the paper and she had a consultation with the result that after four months of treatment she considers she is entirely cured thanks to improved treatment.

SPECIAL REDUCED RATES
Given for Cases Starting Treatment This Month.

Golden Rule in Daily Life

The knowledge that helps us to be wise and kindly and helpful is simple and easy to find. It can be found in books which almost all households possess, which can be bought very cheaply. They contain wisdom which many learned people never have and never will possess. It is not intellectual co-operation we need so much as mutual tolerance and generosity; the effort to look at everything from the other fellow's point of view.—London Daily Herald.

A few tested rules for fishing that may be helpful. Try them:

1. Feed worms dynamite. Feed worms to fish. Throw rocks at fish. Good results.

2. Dash madly up to stream shouting, "I am Bryan and drunk as my monkey ancestor." Pick up stunned fish.

3. Dig ditch, running stream through swamp. Fish catch rheumatism in swamp. Haul away in trucks.

4. Dive down to bottom. Tell bed-time story. Fish go to sleep. Grab fish without waking.

5. The mirror on line. Fish see how they look and laugh themselves to death. Gather in baskets.

A CONTRADICTION IN SILHOUETTES

(By Eleanor Gunn)

When doctors disagree, it goes hard with the patient—and when dressmakers disagree, woman is thrown on her own judgment for the important decision as to what her shadow will make. It may take any of the traditions shown, yet in them all is a deference to the short skirt and a tendency toward sleeve fullness and in three, at least, a similar tendency as related to the skirt. The princess type of dress—regal and lovely for women who have the lines to support it with a series of trains to one side—may be included in one's list of worth while things, while of course, the bouffant picture type is a classic.

In the original Callot, the black velvet discs were rimmed with pearls and the bow was a cyclamen pink failure. One may look askance at a bow in so unusual a position, but nevertheless, so it is placed by many of the dress designers. It leaves one in doubt as to the waistline, and in this frame of mind, many of them unquestionably are. Most of us, accustomed to the freedom of either no sleeves at all, or at least those which do not interfere, are a bit sorry to see the fullness which unquestionably is intruding, and perhaps we may rebel against high collars and skirts which not only cut into more material, but must be deftly hung, yet such is the decree of the style dictators of Paris, and the woman who would be considered smart these days will do well to obey.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

SALAMIS.

The first great—and decisive—naval battle in history was fought at Salamis, between the Greek and Persian fleets, 2,404 years ago today, October 20, B. C. 480. Themistocles the "big Navy" man of the Greece of his day, was the Athenian commander and he had 366 vessels to oppose the Persian fleet of nearly 2000 sail. Facing such a superior force, most of the Greeks wanted to sail away, but Themistocles was determined upon immediate battle. He sent word to Xerxes, the Persian king, informing him that the Greek fleet would attempt to escape, and advising him to guard both ends of the strait.

The Persian monarch followed this advice, and the Greeks, "bottled up" were forced to fight. The battle began early in the morning, continuing throughout the day. Xerxes, who hoped to make Greece a Persian province as the fruit of the conflict, "ante on the rocky brow which looks o'er sea-born Salamis," and gazed down to "where ships by thousands dived in the campaign on land. Hurled down by thousands, dregs of Greek and Persian fought under the sun at break of day—they." The Greeks were completely victorious, and on the day after the battle the bay was covered with the wreck of Asia's fleet.

NAVARINO.

The first military alliance between Great Britain, France and Russia, known as the Three Entente, was formed for the purpose of freeing Greece from Turkish rule, and in the historic battle of Navarino, fought ninety-seven years ago today, October 20, 1827, this was accomplished. The allied fleets of France, England and Russia under the command of Admiral Codrington of the British Navy, fought the Turkish and Egyptian fleet off Navarino, southwestern Greece.

The Allies made quick work of the Ottoman vessels, more than 30 ships, many of them four-deckers, were blown up or burned, several of them by the Turks themselves, to keep them from falling into the hands of the enemy. Turkish naval power was wiped out and the independence of Greece was assured by this battle. The war for Greek independence began in 1821, arousing great enthusiasm throughout Europe. Lord Byron was a volunteer, losing his life in the campaign on land. Hunn, a Frenchman, was killed in the sea-battle. Lord Byron continued, "And Russians fought under the sun at break of day—

THE COUNTESS OF VERRUE.

The Countess of Verrue was one of the most accomplished and beautiful women of the Parisian society of her day.

She belonged to the proud and ancient family of Luynes, and was married at an early age to the Count of Verrue, who took her to Turin. Her great beauty attracted the attention of Amadeo Victor, Duke of Savoy, and King of Sicily. She long resisted his addresses, with a constancy and virtue rare for the age in which she lived.

The temptation of ruling over a court where her virtue only excited quantity of valuable disapprobation, she became the mistress of the Prince. His love, very ardent and sincere, increased with the years. It ended, by heartily wearying Madame de Verrue. Her children by her lover, the power she exercised at his Court, the wealth she enjoyed, could no longer fix her affections.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE BACKLOG

"You are so big and you take so long to burn," said the small pieces of wood to the backlog in the fireplace.

"Ah, there is a reason for that," the backlog said.

And then the backlog told its story.

"You know in families there are mothers and fathers and grandmothers and grandfathers. They are the backbone of the family.

"They see that the family lives up to the family traditions and they keep strong and sturdy so they can direct and guide the younger ones.

"They are ones to be leaned upon when the younger ones can't understand things or get into trouble or are puzzled about things.

"And so is the backlog of a fire.

"I am the backbone of the fire which is now laid just as it is in a family.

"Of course in a family the younger ones don't burn and flame as you do. And in a family there are many other ways that are different.

"But of course the fire family has its own ways, too.

"We do act as the backbone though in just the way real families have their backbone.

"And yet a backbone is of no use if those in front or ahead, or the younger ones, don't do all they can.

"If you don't start in and burn brightly with your smaller sticks I can't get anywhere at all.

"If you did nothing then I would not amount to much, but would be an old backlog without any purpose.

"If families said:

"We younger ones need not do anything bright or fine or brave as we have such splendid parents and grandparents who have made the family famous," the families would soon cease to amount to anything.

"It is fine to have a backbone, but those in the foreground must do something too.

"And in this way the fireplace family is very much like a real family.

"It is the work of the sticks and the smaller logs in front to burn brightly so that the whole fireplace and the whole fire is a success.

"You must crackle and burn and sound cheery and look cheery.

"Then I will be back here helping you along, and helping the new logs along.

"I will be encouraging you and I will burn with a slow, beautiful, warm pride at the work you are doing.

"It is chilly in the house today, and you must do your part as I will do mine.

"You see it would not do if you boasted of what a fine backlog there was if you did nothing at all. You help me just as I help you."

"And families help their elders by living up to fine family traditions just as the elders help their families by setting a good, sturdy example.

"Well, they're lighting the fire now. The Blue Fairies and the Red Fairies and the Flame Fairies will soon be about.

"They will tell stories to each other and they will play and they will build Flame Castles and Flame Courtyards and Smoky Caverns.

"They will have a splendid time and the people will watch them and will listen to them, though they will not understand just what it is they are saying.

"But they, too, will feel like dreaming dreams, and they will almost have a Fairyland of their own as they sit by our fireplace.

"Come on! We must be doing our part now."

And the fire in the fireplace was so warm and "went" so beautifully and the people sat around and were warmed and cheered.

The old backlog did its part, too. Oh, yes indeed!

They're Lighting the Fire Now.

The Disillusioned Father

"Is the world round?" a schoolma'am asked the little boy.

"No'm," said he.

"It isn't, eh? Is it flat, then?"

"No'm."

"Are you crazy, child? If the world isn't round and isn't flat, what is it?"

"Pop says it's crooked," said the little boy.

Not Complimented

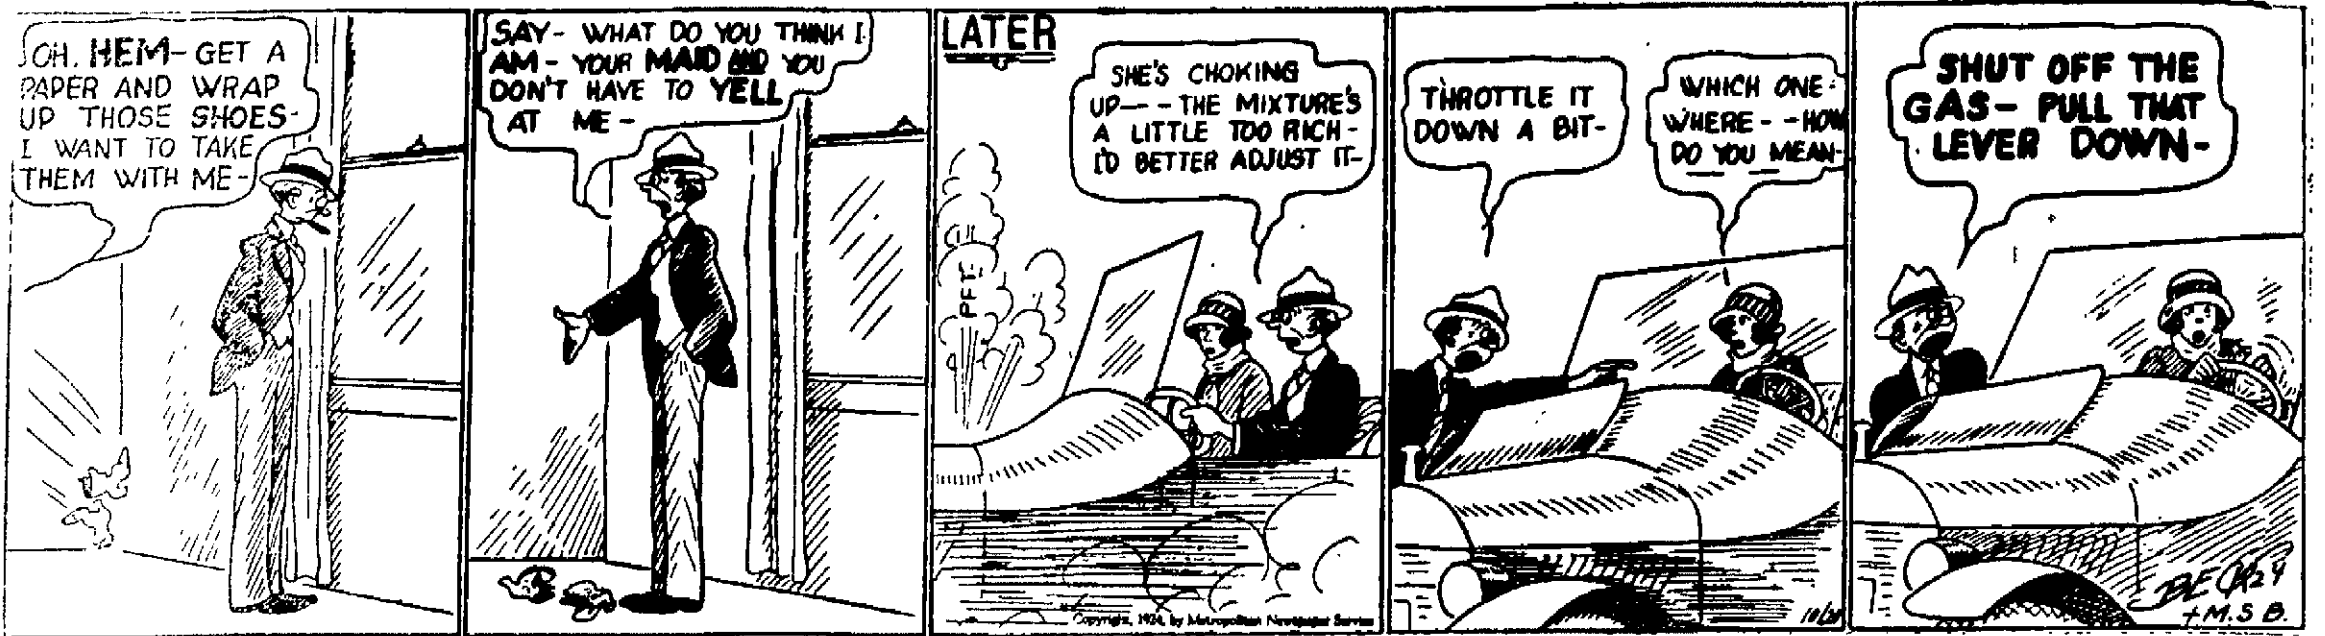

A little girl who does not understand encores found fault with the audience at a recent children's concert, in which she helped to sing a chorus.

"I know we didn't make one mistake," she exclaimed, on the way home, "and yet they made us sing it all over again."

MORE GOOD THINGS

A most tasty luncheon dish is salmon beef. Prepare as usual, steam or bake and serve with Spanish sauce.

Strawberry Bavarian Cream.—Soften one package of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water and dissolve in one-half cupful of strawberry syrup; add one cupful of berries, pressed through a sieve, three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and the juice of half a lemon. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then chill on ice. When the mixture begins to thicken, fold in one and one-half cupfuls of whipped cream. Mold and serve cold decorated with chopped pistachio nuts or use small meringues.

Sour Cream Apple Pudding.—Pare and core enough cooking apples to weigh a pound after paring and coring. Cut into eighths, place in a pudding dish and steam until soft in a closely covered dish. Add two tablespoonsful of butter, and one-half cupful of sugar and mix until smooth. Add three well-beaten eggs, one cupful of sour cream, turn into a saucepan and stir over the fire until the eggs begin slightly to thicken. Remove from the fire, add one-half cupful of rolled and sifted zwieback crumbs with two teaspoonsful of vanilla and one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Have ready a well-greased baking-dish, line it with crumbs, turn in the pudding and bake 45 minutes. Serve with hard sauce.

Blueberry Muffins.—Sift together two cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonsful of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth cupful of sugar. Beat one egg, add three-fourths of a cupful of milk and mix with the dry ingredients; add three tablespoonsful of melted butter and when thoroughly mixed add one cupful of blueberries. Bake in a hot oven in buttered muffin pans.

The city woman who has the corner grocery or the telephone to support her need not worry, but the woman in the country or cottage by the lake, miles from a lemon, must prepare for such times of siege.

Women Speakers Volunteer Services To Campaign For Republican Party; Every Walk In Life Is Represented

MISS ELEANOR P. BARKER • MRS. HARRIET TAYLOR UPTON • MRS. CHARLES W. SEWELL

Women speakers from every walk in life have volunteered their services to campaign for the Republican party. They are carrying the message of the achievements of Coolidge and Dawes and the Republican party from coast to coast, some addressing as many as four audiences a day.

Mrs. Florence Riddick Boys, who is routing the women speakers from the national headquarters, Chicago, has enrolled in the neighborhood of 200 speakers, while Helen Varick Boswell, of the speakers' bureau, Eastern headquarters, New York City, reports more than 150 active speakers.

A flying squadron of speakers is being sent into states where the contest is the hottest, and reports show that many a convert is being won as a result of their oratory.

Mrs. Guy P. Gannett, National Committeewoman from Maine, says the flying squadron went into Maine did much to swing the woman's vote in the state election. In every address delivered by women speakers the fact is being driven home that there are 27,000,000 women eligible to vote in November and every effort should be made to see that these women vote. There will be 2,762,475 young women eligible to vote, who will assume the duties of citizenship for the first time this year.

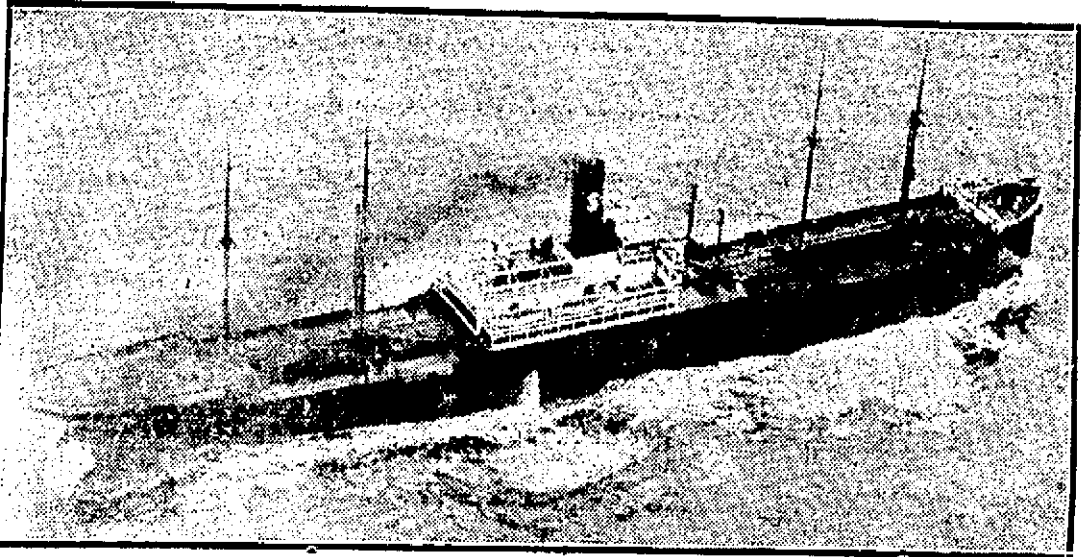

Pictured above are three outstanding speakers who are campaigning in the middle west, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Warren, O.; Mrs. Charles Sewell of Otterbein, Ind.; and Miss Eleanor Barker of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mrs. Upton, who is the principal speaker at a series of campaign Political Schools conducted in the state of Missouri this month, led the Republican women of the country for four years. She was appointed vice chairman of the Republican National Committee in the 1920 campaign, which office she held until the Cleveland convention last June, when she was succeeded by Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, present leader.

Mrs. Sewell, the wife of a real dirt farmer, is well known through the west and middle west for her work with farm women. She is heading the squadron of women speakers which is carrying the message of the Republican party to women living in the rural districts.

While Miss Barker has never been an aspirant or candidate for political office she has always been an active worker in the interests of legislation beneficial to women and children and for the upholding of the principles of the Republican party. She is a practicing attorney in Indianapolis.

City Hospital on Approved List

Meets Minimum Requirements of American College of Surgeons Which Has Announced Results of Nation-wide Survey.

The annual official announcement of Approved Hospitals in the United States and Canada was made this morning at the Hospital Conference of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons, New York, by Franklin H. Martin, M. D., director general.

The official list of hospitals meeting the minimum requirements of the American College of Surgeons, presents the results of the seventh survey of hospitals of 100 beds and over, the third survey of hospitals of 50-100 beds, and the preliminary survey of hospitals of 35-50 beds, making a total of 2,366 hospitals surveyed, of which 1,416 or 59 per cent meet the requirements.

The director general in presenting the report said in part: "The program of the American College of Surgeons is definite. Its requirements are reasonable; its methods of presentation are acceptable. The personal visits and the impartial manner in making the report appeals to the hospital as an unprejudiced effort to arrive at facts. The movement is now its own propagandist for it has proven its worth. The requirements are universally acceptable for they aim at focusing the hospital attention directly on the care of the patient. This surely means much to the 12,000,000 patients passing through the hospitals of the United States and Canada annually."

This report is based on the findings of a detailed survey made through personal investigation, carried on by representatives from the college trained and qualified to do the work. A corps of such representatives cover the United States and Canada annually and "find the facts" about each of those hospitals as to their organization, supervision, facilities, procedures and particularly as to how they control and check up the work of the institution.

"This movement," said Dr. M. T. MacEachern, director of hospital activities, American College of Surgeons, "aims directly at the elimination of deficiencies in hospital services to the patient and the establishing of closer supervision and check-up on the work of the institution. It has been rapid in its acceptance and accomplishments, because of the whole-hearted cooperation of the hospital people and public generally, of the United States and Canada."

The total number of hospitals surveyed in New York was 215, of which 161, or 74.9 per cent, met the requirements.

The Kingston City Hospital is on the approved list of hospitals having from 50 to 100 beds.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON NOT GETTING FLATTERED

"Somehow, Aunt Emmy, it scares me when I read of all the ways people lose their money in fake stock and bond transactions. How can you know who is honest and what stocks and bonds are safe to buy?" queried Jane.

"It is easy enough if people only wouldn't be so impatient," replied Aunt Emmy. "There is never any need for haste in investing. It's far better to take a little time to find out the character of the securities offered and of the person offering them. The buying of securities was greatly stimulated by the Liberty Loans. Before Uncle Sam offered Liberty bonds only about 300,000 people in the United States owned securities. Now millions of people are buying stocks and bonds."

"Of course the unscrupulous security vendors have taken advantage of the public's new education in investments. All sorts of bad and questionable securities are being offered for sale. Naturally the majority of the people are not rich, so when a man sets out to sell bonds or stocks through the country he must be prepared to sell in small quantities. 'Baby bonds,' $100 bonds, that is, are popular. If the baby bonds are sound they are as good an investment as any. But before you buy bonds of any kind get good advice."

"Be especially careful about doorstep salesmen. A bond house that hoods the country with salesmen is put to great expense. They can't send salesmen all over the United States for nothing, so when a salesman comes to sell you bonds it is important to investigate the quality of the bond he is selling. Your bank will give information about investment houses and investments, and if you follow the bank's advice you will not lose your money."

"Another thing to be looked upon with suspicion," continued Aunt Emmy, "is the man who tries to sell you securities over the telephone. Such men will call up some woman living in the country and say they are calling at the suggestion of a friend. They suggest that she buy such and such a bond that is selling at such and such a price. They ask the woman to hold the wire a moment, then say the price of the bond has gone up a point. Of course these men always call on the long distance 'phone from some large city. Poor little Mrs. Backwoods is so thrilled at this touch with the great world of finance that she buys the bond, only to find out her error later. It's a safe bet that she wouldn't buy sheets and pillow cases over the 'phone from a perfect stranger, but bonds, yes!"

"I see, Aunt," said Jane, "you should always know whom you're dealing with and not get excited and rush into anything just because it sounds flattering and thrilling."

"Exactly," said Aunt Emmy.—Anna B. Aymes

ADVOCATE SEED CORN TEST

The Iowa Bankers Association sent out a bulletin to its members urging the bankers to have the farmer test his seed corn this year because of the heavy damage done to corn last year by dry rot. Enclosed was a letter from a farm crops man at Iowa State College explaining the situation. Germination tests on 32,000 ears of representative seed corn from all sections of the state showed that only about 80 per cent were fit for seed purposes, the rest being either weak or dead. "Dry rot is very prevalent in the seed corn this year and is responsible for the low vitality of a good deal of seed corn. In a great many cases ears may look bright and free from disease but kernels from these ears will show the presence of dry rot mold when germinating in the tester."

Citizenship Talk At the Y.W.C.A.

The Y. W. C. A. girls have another rare treat in store at their Wednesday supper of this week when Richard Coons of Poughkeepsie will speak on "Citizenship." Mr. Coons was formerly superintendent of schools at Poughkeepsie, but now spends much of his time lecturing. Many Kingston people have heard him and they declare him to be a remarkably fine speaker.

Registrations for the supper must be made at the Y. office before Tuesday noon, and those registered are asked to remember that it was voted at the last supper that unless registrations were cancelled before Tuesday noon, those signing up to come would be held responsible for the reservation. This action was taken owing to the very low cost of the supper and the consequent necessity that the committee know the exact number who are to attend.

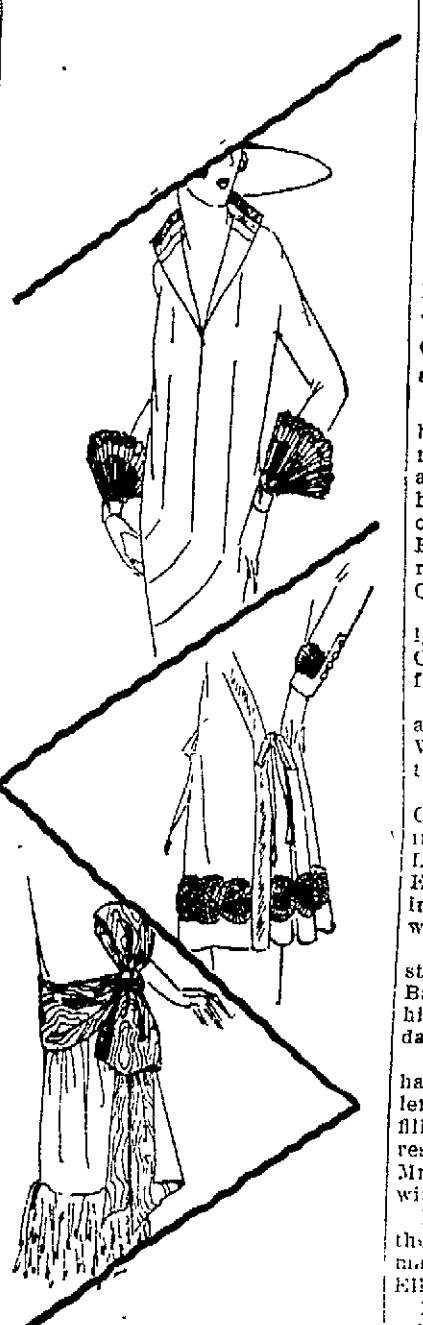

All planning to attend the Yall classes are asked to note that many of them started last week, and others are scheduled to begin this week. In order to get full benefit of the classes, entrance should be made at the beginning of the terms.

STYLE NOTES GAINED IN RIBBON.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

The use of ribbon entails responsibility. Nothing can be more dowdy than a home-made bow; nothing more stunning than one which has an artist's touch.

French frocks, as well as hats, which have scored this season, frequently owe much of their charm to ribbon.

Decolli made a collar and cuff set of tone on tone of fuchsia ribbon, neatly pleated and Renee introduces rosettes of ribbon, also finely pleated, as an edge for a tunic, and a finish for a sleeve. The rosettes overlap and are very decorative.

Adding a dull gold moire ribbon to an otherwise beltless frock is a clever way of varying it. A more extreme arrangement being to add a rather large bow over the abdomen. Any collection of good looking frocks will inspire one to use ribbon at wrist and neckline.

Even some of the new slippers have bows again, while, of course, ribbon—both velvet and silk—is much in evidence in the millinery salon.

"Poker" Expression

The term "stand-patter" is a political slang expression and was originated by Senator Hanna in 1902 to indicate the attitude of the leaders of the Republican party on the tariff question. It came from "stand pat," a poker term, which expresses the intention of a player to play the cards originally dealt him without helping his hand by drawing cards.

The American appetite seems to be more heavily each year to chop and other Chinese foods, as is indicated by the increasing number of Chinese restaurants. It has a counter in China where American dried fruits, breakfast cereals and cigarettes are growing more in demand from the Chinese. The increase in the demand for American food products is so noticeable that the commercial representatives have made considerable effort on it.

Women Hear Talk On Responsibility

Issues, in our own time, we have "A League of Nations as a Republican," and "THE League of Nations as a Democratic issue." At this stage in the political stage of the game, the present national development, Mrs. Colvin said she heard a well-known politician laugh over the idea that women believe in the various planks in the party platform which yearly seek to grow more and more inclusive and difficult of labelling with a distinctive party label.

The speaker also believed that the professional politicians are in a measure responsible for the present indifference as to the operation of our government in that they do not put up as candidates, outstanding men. In fact they sometimes choose a man simply because he has no political enemies and a man of whom the people know nothing. When to the mind of the average citizen there is no choice between the two men named as candidates for some office, naturally why bother to vote for one or the other? Naturally it is difficult to get up enthusiasm over a candidate whose fitness for office was as little known as the supposed unfitness of his opponent. This has gone so far, Mrs. Colvin said, that within the past few years the country has been voting in "blobs" or groups rather than in or by parties. Even prohibition was not put over by either the Republicans or the Democrats but by the Dry Block in both parties, and this new system has invaded even Congress, where we have the "Farmers' Block." Mrs. Colvin believes in a certain amount of independence in voting. Knowing the underlying principles of the party to which one has given support, if it is found that the candidate put up by that party is unfit or unworthy, she believed in voting for the opposing candidate, both to put a better man in office and as a lesson to the offending party to put up the right sort of men as candidates in the future.

She believed in enrolling under the party with which one was best able to work with and in being loyal to that party so long as it put up right men for candidates; and in being independent in voting for the right candidate if he or she were of the opposition party.

Mrs. Colvin said she was convinced that most American citizens want to do as nearly the right thing by their government as they possibly can and also credited all government officials as honestly wanting to do the right thing. But it is necessary that the people of America try to find out which men are best trained to do the right thing, to follow their conscience, which she defined as "The urge to do right."

Mrs. Colvin begged the women, especially the privileged women, not to be partisan. A day or two before coming to Kingston she had attended a big Federation meeting in New York city which was addressed by notable representatives of the Republican, the Democratic and Independent parties. She was horrified at the expressions of actual hatred on the faces of most of the women when their particular party platforms or candidates were criticized by either opposing party. They could scarcely still and listen to the opposition speakers. Mrs. Colvin said how much better it was to hear all sides, for "Surely my party is not going to advertise its faults and shortcomings to the voting public. Yet I realize my party is not perfect. If I want to honestly serve it I must know its defects in order to help remedy them, and where shall I learn those defects except from its opponents?"

Today it is the duty of American citizens to take it upon themselves, to try and have elected right men for office, those who will stand only for the best government of the United States. Mrs. Colvin in closing said that the slogan just now for all clubs seems to be, "Never mind who you vote for, just vote." She could not quite subscribe to that for she felt it to be the duty of every voter to try and find out the right way to vote in order that America might stand at its best, a nation striving for the highest ideal.

Mrs. Colvin was given a rising vote of thanks.

Clinton-Boland.

James Clinton, son of Mrs. Kate Clinton of Gardiner, and Miss May Boland, daughter of Peter Boland of New Paltz, were married at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Joanna Boland of New Paltz, on Tuesday evening, October 7, at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Frank Wilson. The couple were attended by George Bowers, Jr., of Gardiner and Beatrice Shepherson of Kilton. A bountiful supper was served at the home of the bride's aunt to the immediate friends. The following evening the young couple left amid a shower of rice and confetti for a tour by auto to Connecticut and New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton will make their home with the bride's aunt at New Paltz for the present. Their many friends wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Barmann-Tronson.

A very pretty autumnal wedding took place Sunday, October 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Tronson, 20 Park street, this city, when their daughter, Mildred Louise Tronson, became the bride of Henry P. Barmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter I. Barmann, of 30 South Clinton avenue. The ceremony was performed at one o'clock by the Rev. H. J. Gerhart of the Wurts Street Baptist Church. The bride wore a Pekin blue chiffon velvet gown and carried a bouquet of white roses and swansonia. Sanchon K. Barmann, sister of the groom, acted as maid of honor and wore a brown velvet gown with white squirrel with hat to match. Charles G. Whitaker acted as best man. After the ceremony and dinner the bride and groom left for Washington, D. C., and Cleveland, Ohio. Upon their return they will reside on North Manor avenue, where a new home awaits them.

Wolfe-Reis.

On Wednesday afternoon, October 16, at 5 o'clock, in St. Joseph's R. C. Church, Palisade avenue, Bogota, N. J., Miss Antoinette Elena Reis, daughter of Michael A. Reis, 82 Beechwood avenue, was united in marriage to Henry W. Wolfe, son of Mrs. A. Wolfe, of 293 Queen Anne Road. The sanctuary of the church was decorated with palms and the church was filled to capacity, as this popular couple have a host of friends in the town and are much admired by all. The guests were escorted to their seats by the following ushers: Edward A. Reis, brother of the bride, Herbert Ritter, Ritchie Ryan and George Paulman, all local boys. To the strains of Lohengrin, Miss Margaret Reis, sister of the bride at the organ, Miss Antoinette entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, very charmingly groomed in a dark green ensemble costume, trimmed with squirrel, chic green hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of white roses. Her only ornament was a handsome string of genuine pearls with a tinge of green beads, a gift of the groom. Miss Juliet E. Reis, sister of the bride, waited upon her as bridesmaid and she was very attractive in a navy blue gown trimmed with squirrel, tan hat, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses. William Sheeran of Long Island City served the groom as best man. Following the ceremony a soprano solo, "At Dawning," was delightfully rendered by Mrs. Fred Brandwood, accompanied at the organ by Miss Margaret Reis. The happy couple left the altar all smiles as Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played and their beaming faces seemed to throw a spirit of gladness among the assembled company. Of course, the usual supply of rice was on hand, various colored confetti, streamers, etc., and the newlyweds were showered aplenty. At the Villa Antoinette a sumptuous wedding supper awaited the guests, furnished by a famous caterer and everything was arranged in splendid fashion. Michael Reis, father of the bride, and one of the local realtors, left no stone unturned to make this event one to be long remembered. There was a huge wedding cake, with the cutest bride and groom on the top, which the bride very sweetly cut. The most gorgeous cut flowers were on the table. Afterward dancing was enjoyed, the music being furnished by Horn's string orchestra. Thomas McCarthy rendered a solo in his usual pleasing way and Mrs. Brandwood obliged in her charming manner with a solo, "Sunshine and Rain." Among the guests at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. N. Huber, Mr. and Mrs. J. Peter Reis, Mr. and Mrs. John Reis, Miss Elizabeth Reis, Miss Helen Stoudt, Miss Marie Huber, Felix Huber, Nicholas Huber, Jr., Joseph Reis, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haggerty, all of Kingston, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reis, the Misses Josephine and Dorothy Reis, all of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reis of Englewood, N. J.; Miss Johanna Reis, Miss Mary Caine, Miss Daisy Britt, Mrs. Mary Sanderson, Miss Marie Sanderson, all of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. William Sheeran of Long Island City, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Fitzgerald of Jersey City, N. J.; Miss Gertrude Luke of Van Nest, N. Y.; Miss Florence Raves of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schiefer and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bauer of Bloomfield, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reis, Mr. and Mrs. John Mack, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mulligan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brandwood, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koch, the Misses Grace Couch, Luch Busch, Lila Duffy, Edna Sullivan, Muriel Mack, Juliet Reis, Margaret Reis, Mrs. A. Wolfe, Herbert Ritter, Michael A. Reis. The bride is a member of the Emanon Club and also affiliated with other organizations in town. The groom is secretary of the St. Joseph's Men's Club and also is the famed pitcher for the Men's Club baseball team. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe very quietly slipped away to spend their honeymoon at Dayton, Ohio. Upon their return they will take possession of their new home on Queens Court, Bogota, N. J.

Stray Bit of Wisdom

Recall Old Days Of Recreation

Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau Entertainments Bring Old Time Recreation Back To Ulster County.

Many of those present at the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau community meetings held in Stone Ridge and Kerhonkson Thursday and Friday nights told of how years ago when they were children their parents and friends played games together just as they were playing that night. It seemed to bring back memories of many a friendly social night of years ago. These friendly neighborly games were lost when other forms of recreation became available and more fashionable, but the more fashionable forms of recreation have not given the same friendly neighborly atmosphere that prevailed at these old time meetings. Old and young played games and both enjoyed them to the utmost. It was indeed very funny to see notables of the community chasing each other around the ring.

In addition to these games a very humorous sketch, "Joshing the Janitor," was put on in both communities by local talent. In Stone Ridge Ross Osterhoudt took the part of the business man, Edward Muller took the part of the colored janitor, both took their parts exceedingly well.

In Kerhonkson Chester Gray was the business man and Miles Markle the janitor. Here also the actors were very clever and amusing. Of course, since this is a competitive act for all Ulster county, the judges are not yet saying which was the best. One could just tell that both audiences felt that their actors just could not be improved upon. Both communities are sure they will win the prize.

After the sketch the local chairmen gave short talks on the aims and work of the Farm and Home Bureau. Miss Fisher, manager of the Home Bureau, urged every homemaker not already a member of the 1,000 homemakers who are already members, stating that it is the privilege and duty of every homemaker to work for better homes in Ulster county.

Mr. Wigsten, manager of the Farm Bureau, explained its work and aims and urged the men to avail themselves of the services their organization can give them. After the games refreshments were served in both communities by the Home Bureau ladies. The following communities will hold their meeting this week.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS.

The attraction at the Kingston Opera House the first half of this week will be five high class acts of vaudeville, featuring Paul LeVere's Syncopators in a melange of music, song and dance. This act carries nine people, with an elaborate stage setting, dazzling electrical effects and other novelties. Mr. LeVere is the world's premier banjoist. The photoplay is "Loving Lies," starring Monte Blue. The story is based on the famous novel, "Bar Harbor," an exciting romance of the sea.

There is a complete change of program at the Orpheum today, the feature picture offering being "A Self-Made Failure" with Ben Alexander and Lloyd Hamilton. It is a first run First National production of 1924-25, in conjunction with five big time vaudeville acts, consisting of high class singing, dancing, comedy, variety and novelties.

At the Auditorium tonight O. Henry's story of the great east side of New York, "The Sidewalks of New York," a tale of New York's East Side, portraying many of the types of bullies, gangsters, ward politicians, peddlers, loan sharks—a clever girl brought up on "The Sidewalks of New York" and a little while held captive by a brutal bully—who gets in the end what is properly coming to him.

New Refrigeration Idea

Freezing with carbon dioxide is a new method of fish refrigeration being tested at the Atlantic biological station in Canada, according to reports received by the American Chemical Society. The use of solid carbon dioxide, it is asserted, has several advantages. The lowering of temperature by this means retards spoiling, and the cooling can be controlled within wide limits. The carbon dioxide also excludes the air while the penetration of the juices of the fish by carbon dioxide gas has an additional preservative effect. Weight for weight solid carbon dioxide has twice the cooling power of artificial ice, and it is believed that the cost of production can be kept down to about the same figure.

Reassured

News had reached the village of Forkville that a motor-bus plying between the two neighboring towns of Bampton and Gush Hollow had gone over the side of a cliff with all on board. It was also known in Forkville that the wife of the much henpecked Bud Blodgett was en route to Gush Hollow via the bus line. An interested villager immediately called on Bud.

"Ain't ye worried 'bout yer wife, Bud?" he asked.

"Well," replied Bud, "I was fer a while, but her cousin in Bampton jest called up an' said she enw Sal got on the bus with her own eyes."—American Legion Weekly.

DANCE LOVERS

The greatest attraction ever offered. Tomorrow Night at Clermont Hall, Moonlight and Spotlight Dancing, continuous from 8 to 11. Last appearance of Chas. Howard's Casino Six in Kingston for some time. Don't fail to attend.

Colonials Split Double-Header

With Haverstraw K. of C. Sunday—First Game in Visitor's Favor 4 to 2—Second Game 2 to 0 With Schrickmen in Front—Culliton Day.

The Haverstraw K. of C. helped the Kingston Colonials celebrate Bud Culliton Day at the Fair Grounds yesterday and shared equally with the locals in the double-header, winning by a 4-2 score in the first contest and being shut out by Culliton in the nightcap, 2-0. Both teams were hard after a double victory as the series between the two clubs stood even before yesterday's games. As it is now, neither team has an advantage, having won three apiece.

In the opening setto neither team scored a single earned run. The first Haverstraw run came as a result of a base on balls, a sacrifice and a high fly which Roy Atkins lost in the sun. The three tallies that they added to their score in the fifth inning came after Matty Deegan had made an error with a double play in front of him and so all the visitors' runs were tainted. The Schrickmen were handed two runs in the eighth inning when Wisner had a wild streak and walked four men after Dugan had singled.

Clyde Russell pitched a fine game and deserved a shutout. But seven hits were gathered off his delivery and in only one inning did the visiting aggregation bunch more than one safety. His control was unusually good and only two men were given passes. Wisner, Clyde's opponent in the first battle was reached for but five hits but he sent ten men to first, via base on balls. The seventh was the only inning in which no Colonial runner got on the bags. Wisner was in trouble continually but seemed to have a lot of stuff on the ball in the pinches and set ten Colonials down on strikes. Buddy Culliton hooked up with Bob Grody in the second game and Bud had much the best of it throughout the argument. The Knights managed to get one hit in every inning except the fifth, but that's as far as it went. Not a man passed second and only three reached the midway station. Klein got three hits off Bud and Wisner got two of the remaining three hits. Grody kept the locals down to seven—safe blows but timely smashed hits by Fitzpatrick, Dugan, Atkins and Robbins accounted for the two winning runs in the third and fourth innings.

Culliton Day.

Just before the second game, the two teams lined up in front of the grandstand and John M. Cashin presented Bud Culliton with a substantial purse, given by fans and admirers of the local boy who has worked his way into the big leagues. Mr. Cashin expressed the feelings of the many Colonial rooters when he said that Culliton's success was merited and was shared by the local people, who have seen him in school here and later grow up into a successful career.

It is quite customary, almost a set rule for a player, who has been honored as Bud was Sunday, to play like a draf for the day but the Colonial ace defied tradition and custom and proceeded to set the Casseys down without a single run.

The Opener.

Russell got himself in trouble in the first inning by walking Klein, Shanky sacrificed him along and Mercer hit on a line to right field. Atkins made a circus catch on Mercer's drive and the fans breathed easier. Brown followed with a high fly in the same right field territory and Atkins misjudged the ball in the sun and it fell safely for a single, Klein scoring from second.

The first semblance of a Colonial rally came in the second inning. Atkins singled to center, following Raskin's out, Cunningham to Walters. Atkins advanced a base while Walters was throwing out Flynn. Schwab walked but Robbins couldn't reach Wisner for a hit and went down on strikes.

Russell went along nicely until the fifth and then his infield got him in a bad hole. Wisner and Klein both singled to left, Wisner holding second on Klein's blow. Shanky popped to Raskin and Mercer grounded to Deegan. Flynn covered second on this play but Matty tried to tag Klein going down from first. He missed the runner and then had to hurry his throw to first, perging out of Raskin's reach and both runners were safe instead of a double play. Wisner went to third on this play. Walters picked a third one and sent it down to the left field alley for two bases, scoring the three runs. He tried to stretch his hit to a triple but was thrown out by Dugan.

After pecking away vainly for seven innings, the Schrickmen broke into the scoring column in the eighth. Dugan was the first man to face Wisner this session and hit down the first base line for a single. Matty Deegan worked along to a three and two count and then was called out on a third strike that looked to be at least a foot outside the plate. Raskin walked and Atkins fanned. Then Wisner did get wild. Flynn walked, filling the bases, and Jimmy Morgan went in to hit for Schwab. Morgan worked Wisner for a pass, forcing Dugan in and Robbins also got four bad ones, sending Raskin across.

At this stage of the game a single would have tied the score and a double would have sent across the winning tally. Culliton batted for Russell but couldn't get the ball out of the infield. Forsythe pitched out to Shanky. Forsythe pitched the last inning and though Klein singled, Rube was not in deep water at any time.

Johnny Wisner continued his wildness of the eighth inning right on into the closing act. Fitzpatrick and Deegan walked, Dugan breaking the monotony with a strikeout. Raskin hit towering fly to deep center and Fitzpatrick made third after the catch. Atkins ended the battle with a line drive.

right in Mercer's mitt.

From the very start, the second game had all the earmarks of a fine pitcher's battle. The first Haverstraw batter beat out an infield tap but was left stranded on the initial sack. Howard Fitzpatrick opened the Colonials' first inning with a single over short but he too was left on first. It seemed as though the pitchers had lots of stuff when they needed it and one run meant the ball game. Wisner tried to manufacture this lone tally by himself but found that he wasn't quite equal to the task. He singled with one out in the second and tried to steal second. However, he started too soon and Culliton caught him off first. But ran the big pitcher too far towards second before he tossed to Deegan and Matty couldn't handle the ball cleanly. Wisner making the bag safely. That was good enough but then he tried to go on to third before Matty could recover the ball but Deegan threw him out easily.

With two down in the third inning, Fitzpatrick crashed the ball into the far reaches of right field, way over Wisner's head. Fast fielding held the fleet Fitz to third but Leo Dugan came through in the pinch with a neat single down the right field foul line and the winning run registered.

A very fast double play turned the Knights away from the plate in the fourth. Mercer led off with a safety off the right field wall. Brown attempted to bunt and tapped a roller to the pitcher's box. Culliton fielded the ball cleanly and cleverly and whirled fast to throw the flying Mercer out at second. Flynn's relay to Raskin had Brown beat by a step. After that but two men got on the base paths, Klein doubling with one out in the sixth and Wisner hitting for two bases with two away in the seventh. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of darkness.

Atkins hit for two bases after Raskin had grounded out to start the fourth inning. Flynn hit a hard smash towards short and when Grody knocked the ball down, he had Atkins trapped between second and third. While he was being run down, Flynn advanced to second. Schwab grounded to Cunningham who threw wild to first, Bill going to second and Flynn scoring. Robbins followed with a hit but was forced at second by Culliton.

Poor base-running by the Colonials robbed them of more runs in the last two innings. Fitz walked in the fifth and was forced at second by Dugan. Deegan hit to left field and Leo Dugan tried to go to second after the catch but was an easy out. Raskin pulled the same stunt in the last inning. Tubby singled to center and when Atkins fled to Wisner he was thrown out trying to make second.

Sunday's games closed the local baseball season. The Colonials may play one more out-of-town engagement but the Colonial fans will have to wait until the spring of '25 before they hear "Play Ball" called out at the Fair Grounds.

Will Strength of Notre Dame Last

Gruelling Schedule Expected to Weaken Cyclone Team of Middle West—Impossible to Pick Winner in East at This Early Date.

(By David J. Walsh.)
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 20.—Notre Dame and Illinois rule the middle west, Georgia Tech, Florida, Alabama and possibly Tulane and Auburn are out in front of the southern pack, California and Stanford seem to have an early edge on the Pacific coast group but the east knows neither leader nor definite favorite for that honor. In this section, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Syracuse, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Lafayette, Washington, Williams and Rutgers remained unrefuted and to pick a leader from the field would be to pick one pea from a two quart can.

Speaking from the standpoint of national leadership, the writer would venture, off-hand, that Notre Dame and Illinois are as good or better than the next. He doubts very much if any college has as good an early season team as Notre Dame. The Irish had everything Saturday in beating one of the best army teams of the modern generation—everything, that is, except stamina. Notre Dame is built for speed, not endurance. It lacks left to absorb many more poundings such as it received from the army, and unfortunately, Notre Dame has just begun a succession of gruelling games.

The question before the house is whether its remarkable speed and deception can offset for a complete season what probably will be the physical superiority of the combined opposition. For two periods Miller, Crowley, et al., backed up by fine a bit of interference as has been seen on an eastern gridiron in years, completely befuddled the army defense. The Irish backfield masked to a nicety not only the intent but the direction of the plays and more than once I saw army forwards studiously chasing men who merely pretended to have the ball. But in the final half, Notre Dame's speed was gone and with it went all that was vital in the attack. The writer fears the worst for this great team in later games.

As for Illinois, it proved against Michigan that it packs what is probably the greatest punch the country over. The remarkable Grange, with Britton and the forwards mopping up in front of him, seems to be the Heston of modern times. However, Illinois has had thirty points scored against it in three games, which either does or does not speak well for its defense, depending upon whether one considers such teams as Nebraska, Butler and Michigan to be push overs.

Incidentally, Michigan's wholehearted defeat makes Nebraska, which held the Illinois to a 9 to 6 score, look rather good by comparison to say nothing of Oklahoma, which defeated the Huskers, 14 to 7. These are mere incidents in a football life, however, and mean nothing in particular. Yet the Huskers must have something or they would not have defeated Colgate by 33 to 7.

As for the eastern leaders, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth have played tie games while most of the others have yet to get down to serious business with the big time opposition. That is the difference between eastern and western schedules. They immediately plunge into the heavy going in Horace Greeley's favorite territory.

Scoreless Tie At Middletown
At Middletown Saturday afternoon the Kingston High School grid players showed a defense which held the Sullivan county team to two first downs. Although the Kingston eleven made ten first downs it lacked the push to put the ball across.
Baker of the Middletown High eleven received Teley's kick off on his own five yard line and swept through the Kingston players, and for a moment it looked as though Middletown would draw first blood. He was finally stopped on his own 35 yard line. Here the Kingston defense showed its mettle and Middletown was forced to punt.
Near the end of the first half the Kingston team marched down to Middletown's 15 yard line and with four downs to go, a touchdown seemed sure. Captain Goldberg after calling three line smashes, resorted to a forward pass which was grounded on Middletown's 5 yard line. Middletown immediately punted out of danger and the half ended with score 0-0.
"Ma" Flanagan proved a consistent ground gainer through the center of the line. John Byrne the fighting Irishman of the local team, proved himself a valuable man both defensive and offensive.
The K. H. S. aerial attack was working better Saturday. In all 5 passes were completed. Late in the fourth quarter "Beb" Herzog, who was substituting for Disch got away for 10 yards on a pretty pass from Teley. The teams lined-up as follows:

Kingston	Middletown
Safford	L.E. Coddington
Miller	L.T. Welch
Davis	L.G. Newburger
Byrne	C.
